To All Students in MAT 51: How to Prepare for a MIDTERM EXAM

Note: Your Departmental Midterm Exam is quickly approaching. Ask your Instructor for the specific date.

General Good College Habits

- Do attend class each day
- Do be on time to class
- Do contact your instructor if absence is unavoidable
- Do read your text book or e-book before attempting a homework assignment
- Do read the next lesson's topic ahead of time – be prepared
- Do take notes in class – rewrite your notes at home for clarification and repetition
- Do ask questions during class when not understanding class material
- Do all assigned homework assignments by due dates and/or before exams
- Do redo an in-class exam or quiz to learn from your mistakes – return to instructor for verification
- Do practice MATH – it will stay in your long-term memory and result in reducing math anxiety
- Do write all homework solutions in a separate math notebook. If you get a homework questions wrong, bring the homework notebook to class and ask your instructor/or tutors in Math Lab to help you find the errors.
- Do visit your instructor during office hours or contact via email – or leave note in your instructor's mailbox located in the Mathematics Department room N599
- Do visit the Math Lab room S535
- Do form study groups with classmates or students taking same class
- Do try to practice without a calculator – calculators are not permitted to be used on the Midterm
